

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

Charles E. Rice is professor of law at Fordham University.

Patrick M. Boarman is visiting professor of economics at the Institut Universitaire de Hautes Etudes Internationales in Geneva, Switzerland.

Mario Pei is professor of romance languages at Columbia University.

Marie Chay is the author of Pilgrim's Pride; her work has appeared previously in MODERN AGE.

William Henry Chamberlin, contributing editor of the Wall Street Journal, is the author of The German Phoenix.

David N. Knox is a Toronto business executive whose writings have appeared in various Canadian publications.

Eugene Davidson is editor of MODERN AGE. The article on Albert Speer appearing in this issue is condensed from a chapter of Mr. Davidson's book, The Trial of the Germans, to be published by Macmillan this Fall.

Mauro Senesi, a resident of Florence, Italy, is author of a number of short stories which have appeared in American magazines.

The book reviews are contributed by: J. M. Lalley, associate editor of MODERN AGE; Stephen J. Tonsor, professor of history at the University of Michigan; Wyatt B. Durette, Jr., an attorney-at-law and graduate student in political science at Johns Hopkins University; C. P. Ives, associate editor of the Burke Newsletter; Henry M. Adams, professor of history at the University of California, Santa Barbara; Francis G. Wilson, professor of political science at the University of Illinois; M. E. Bradford, professor of English at Northwestern State College of Louisiana; Henry C. Evans, Major General, AUS, (Ret.) commanded an artillery division in the European Theater in World War II; Paul K. T. Sih, director of the Center of Asian Studies, St. John's University; Allen T. Blount, retired colonel of the Army Corps of Engineers, who has made an extensive study of South African affairs; Felix Morley, author of Freedom and Federalism.