

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

C. P. Ives is associate editor of Studies in Burke and His Times.

Francis Wilson is professor of political science, Post College, Long Island University.

Stefan T. Possony is director of international political studies program, Hoover Institution, Stanford.

E. M. Adams is a former professor of philosophy and an author of a number of books and articles.

Byron C. Lambert is campus dean at Fairleigh Dickinson University, Rutherford, New Jersey.

Clarence B. Carson is professor of history at Grove City College, Grove City, Pennsylvania.

Nina Walter is an author and lecturer and professor of English emeritus, Los Angeles City College.

The book reviews are contributed by: J. M. Lalley, associate editor of MODERN AGE; Gabriel Gersh, professor of English, Hunter College; George A. Panichas, professor of English, University of Maryland; Sir Richard Rees, distinguished English writer and literary critic, and author of Simone Weil; Paul K. T. Sih, Center of Asian Studies, St. John's University, Jamaica, New York; John J. Tierney, Jr., department of politics, Catholic University of America, Washington, D.C.; Eugene Davidson, editor of MODERN AGE and author of The Trial of the Germans; George Morgenstern, editorial page editor, Chicago Tribune; Stephen J. Tonsor, professor of history at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor; Jere Real, PhD candidate and Schubert Playwright, University of Virginia; Donald Atwell Zoll, professor of philosophy and political science, University of Saskatchewan.