

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

Karl A. Wittfogel is professor emeritus of Chinese History at the University of Washington; director of the Chinese History Project, New York; and the author of numerous books and articles.

John Barratt, director of the South African Institute of International Affairs in Johannesburg since 1967, was previously in the Foreign Service and spent seven years in New York with the South Africa Mission to the United Nations.

Eliseo Vivas, retired from Northwestern University where he held the Chair of John Evans Professor of Moral and Intellectual Philosophy, is now serving as distinguished visiting professor at Rockford College in the departments of philosophy and English.

Donald Atwell Zoll, chairman of the department of philosophy and classics at the University of Saskatchewan, Regina, is the author of Reason and Rebellion and The Twentieth Century Mind and a frequent contributor to journals and reviews, among them National Review and The Intercollegiate Review.

Arthur A. Shenfield is visiting professor of economics for 1969-70 at Rockford College. He was economic director of the Confederation of British Industry, a practitioner at the English Bar, and has held various other public appointments. His article was delivered as a lecture at Rockford College in October 1969.

James M. Rhodes is assistant professor of political science at Marquette University.

Edward Wasiolek, professor of Slavic and comparative literature at the University of Chicago, is the author of Dostoevsky: the Major Fiction and editor of Dostoevsky's notebooks in English.

The book reviews are contributed by: Henry Regnery, chairman of the board of the Henry Regnery Company; Chesly Manly, member of the editorial board of the Chicago Tribune; Allen T. Blount, retired Colonel of the Army Corps of Engineers who has made extensive studies of African affairs; Felix Morley, formerly editor of the Washington Post and president of Haverford College; Dean Terrill, president of the Foundation for Foreign Affairs, a semi-retired lawyer and businessman, and a contributor to legal publications and Modern Age; James E. Dornan, Jr., assistant professor of politics at Catholic University of America, Washington, D.C.; C. P. Ives, associate editor of Studies of Burke and His Time; Brenton H. Smith, professor of history, Miami University, Ohio.