

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

Boris Meißner, Germany's most distinguished Sovietologist, is professor of history and director of the Institute for Research on Marxism-Leninism at the University of Cologne. He accompanied Chancellor Adenauer on the first mission to Moscow, and later served as Minister in the Federal Republic's first embassy in the USSR. His article is based on a paper presented at a conference held in Rockville, Maryland, in October 1971 on "The Relation of Forces between East and West," and sponsored by the Studiengesellschaft für Fragen mittel- und osteuropäischer Partnerschaft and the Conference on European Problems.

Stefan T. Possony is director of the international political studies program at the Hoover Institution of Stanford University. He has published widely.

Henry Regnery is the founder and chairman of the board of the Henry Regnery Company, Publishers. His article is based on a paper delivered before the Chicago Literary Club on January 3, 1972.

Stephen J. Tonsor is professor of European intellectual history at the University of Michigan. He has published widely in both scholarly and popular journals.

John P. East, professor of political science at East Carolina University, is the author of Council-Manager Government: The Political Thought of Its Founder, Richard S. Childs. He has published numerous articles and book reviews and is a member of the editorial board of The Political Science Reviewer.

Mario Pei, professor emeritus of Romance philology, Columbia University, is an internationally esteemed linguist and the author of countless highly successful books and articles.

Robert Drake, professor of English at the University of Tennessee, has published many articles and stories and is the author of Amazing Grace, Flannery O'Connor, The Writer and His Tradition, and The Single Heart.

The book reviews are contributed by: J. M. Lalley, associate editor of Modern Age; C. P. Ives, associate editor of Studies in Burke and His Time; Henry M. Adams, professor of history, University of California, Santa Barbara; The Hon. Paul Clement Daniels, a former foreign service officer who has served in various consular and diplomatic posts and as U.S. Ambassador to Honduras, Ecuador and the Organization of American States; Robert A. Schadler, national director, Intercollegiate Studies Institute; William E. Rattiff, Fellow of the Hoover Institution of Stanford University and the author of many articles on communism in Latin America; Kurt Glaser, professor of political science, Southern Illinois University; Melvin J. Friedman, professor of English, University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee; Kenneth Paul Shorey, senior production editor for J. B. Lippincott Company, book publishers; Alma Stone, author of two novels, The Harvard Tree and The Bible Salesman; Brenton H. Smith, professor of history, Miami University, Oxford, Ohio.