

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

Henry Regnery is the founder and chairman of the board of the Henry Regnery Company, Publishers.

Eliseo Vivas, professor of philosophy emeritus at Northwestern University, has published numerous books and articles on moral philosophy and aesthetics; his latest work is Contra Marcuse.

Gerhart Niemeyer, professor of political science at the University of Notre Dame and the author of numerous books and articles, is an associate editor for Modern Age.

Henry Hazlitt, one of the nation's foremost journalists in the field of economics and politics, was until recently a nationally syndicated columnist for the Los Angeles Times Syndicate. He is the author of fifteen books and numerous articles.

Russell Kirk, author of The Conservative Mind and numerous other books and articles, founded Modern Age together with Henry Regnery and David S. Collier and was the periodical's first editor.

George W. Carey is professor of government at Georgetown University and editor of The Political Science Reviewer.

Arthur Shenfield, a former director of the International Institute for Economic Research of London, England and Menlo Park, California, has held various other public appointments. He has been in recent years visiting professor at the University of Chicago Graduate School of Business, Temple University and Rockford College.

M. E. Bradford, professor of English at the University of Dallas, has written for Modern Age for a decade. This year he has been lecturing throughout the country on the prescriptive view of the American Revolution.

Anthony Harrigan, executive vice president of the United States Industrial Council, is the author of eight books, including Defense Against Total Attack and A Guide to the War in Vietnam. His newspaper column is published in approximately 300 papers.

Stephen Tonsor, professor of European intellectual history at the University of Michigan, is the author of Tradition and Reform in Education. He has published widely in both scholarly and popular journals.

Leo R. Ward is professor emeritus of philosophy at Notre Dame University and the author of many works on social philosophy and regional literature.

The book reviews are contributed by: J. M. Lalley, associate editor of Modern Age; C. P. Ives, book review editor of Studies in Burke and His Time; Charles G. Douglas III, associate justice of the Superior Court of the State of New Hampshire; Alma Stone, author of several books of fiction, resides in New York City; W. H. Hutt, professor of economics, University of Dallas; Holmes Alexander, prominent Washington journalist; William Marina, Liberty Fund senior research scholar and professor of history at Florida Atlantic University; Felix Morley, formerly editor of the Washington Post, now living in retirement in Gibson Island, Md.; Hugh Mercer Curtler, chairman, department of philosophy, Southwest State University, Marshall, Minn.; Erik von Kuehnelt-Leddihn, widely known European journalist and author, resides in Lans/Tyrol, Austria.